WILLIS, THE GAMBLER.

(A Sketch.)

It was at Whisky Gulch, in '54; there was about fifty cabins, two stores, and several saloons and lodging houses. A lodging house caught fire; there was a poor woman and child in the second story; the stairway was in a blaze; at least one hundred and fifty men were standing around, listening to the agonizing shrieks of that poor woman; the house, enveloped in flames, gave no hope of rescue. A tall, slender young man, dressed in the hight of fash on, known as Willis the gambler, rushed to the front door and looking at the cauldron of fire within, turned and asked for a wet blanket. In a moment one was placed in his hands; he wrapped it around him and disappeared in the flames. In a moment more he appeared at the window with the child, broke out the sash and threw the child; it was caught by two men on a large overcoat. Again he disappeared, and returned with the woman in his arms. A canvas tent, held by a dozen stalwart miners, was ready to, and did receive her, as the apparently lifeless form was cast out. The building was now a roaring furnace, and Willis leaped from the window to the ground, breaking his leg. His face and arms were severely burned. For six long weeks he lay upon his bed, but kindly han ls nursed him; every man and woman in the camp honored the hero of the fire, by their presence, day and night; there was no lagging then; enough could not be done for Willis, the gambler. At length he recovered, maimed for life, his mouth being drawn out of shape. The men, however, swore by him, and the women worshipped his very deformity.

THE PRINCE IMPERIAL'S DEATH.

Some Very Curious and Interesting Revelations.

[London Telegraph, July 11.]

Our Durban correspondent forwards the following deposition:

M. Camille Hellepulk, of Ghent, states that on June 1 last he started with General Newdegate's column about 9 A. M. from Koppel Alain, and when crossing Blood river he met the Prince with Captain Carey, Ninety-eighth Regiment, four men of Bettington's Horse and one native. The Prince was in the uniform of the Royal Artillery, and seemed to be in very high spirits, laughing and talking with his comrades as he went along. M. Hellepulk was on horseback, and about to take a wrong road to join the first division of the column, when he was hailed by Captain Carey and informed of the course he had better take, and, after a few kind and cheerful words from the Prince, bade him "Bon jour; au revoir!" The Prince was riding a gray horse which he called Tommy. M. Hellepulk got to camp about 5 P. M., and shortly afterwards a Dutchman whom he had seen in the morning with the Prince came to him and said: "I have brought the Prince's horse, but not the Prince," and refused to say any more just then, but in a little while the same man informed him that he feared the Prince was killed. The man described the affair as follows: "The Prince gave the order to saddle and away, and every man did the best to obey quickly. He saw the Prince trying to vault into his saddle (a custom he was fond of), and the saddle turned round on the horse's side. The Prince came to the ground, and immediately drew his sword to defend himself from the Zulus, who, to the number of forty or fifty, were close upon him. The horse galloped on as soon as the Prince had lost his hold, and joined those of the others, who were in front. Captain Carey did not know for several moments that the Prince had not got away with the rest, and when he was informed that something was wrong, it would have been impossible to get the narrator and his company on to return and attack an unknown number of Zulus. On the following day, M. Hellepulk was with the force when the body of the Prince was recovered. It was found lying on the side, in a recumbent position, with one leg bent under him, and close to him were three empty revolver cartridges—thus showing that he had died only after defending himself against such fearful odds to the very last. Mr. Hellepulk left camp at ten o'clock on the night of June 2d, and arrived in Durban along with the remains of the Prince. M. Hellepulk added that he should not omit to mention one fact which might be significant—the native who went with the Prince's party is supposed to have been killed, but neither his body nor his horse, saddle or bridle, have been found. He was a Natal Zulu.

CALIFORNIA.

The fame of California extends to the uttermost parts of the earth. Her climate, soil and productions are better known throughout the civilized world than those of any other State in the Union. Her extensive gold fields first attracted the attention of the live men of our country, and the ease with which so many made large fortunes in a short time, soon caused the active business men of the North, East, South and West to look at the broad field open for their enterprise with wistful eyes—and, as a knowledge of mining was gained and improved upon, hydraulic diggings were opened up, and extensive tunnel and drift diggings laid bare the rich treasures of our mountains and hills. The coming of these, the best and most energetic men of our country, continued to our shores. It required long years to force each man into his special business. At first doctors, lawyers, ministers and all classes of professional men, as well as tradesmen, could be found working in the mines. It was, indeed, a queer state of society. Call at a cabin, and the rough-clad miner would read Virgil or Homer to you, or discuss the science of medicine, the law or political economy—dilate upon the special merits of different forms of government, with all the ease and familiarity of those who are familiar with such subjects having an experience and study that gave them a perfect knowledge of such matters. And talk of mining. They would tell you of the different gold-bearing stratas and the most perfect and certain mode of saving the precious metal, and were as much at home talking of the mines as upon any other subject. The hard, manual labor their occupation forced upon them had no terrors for these men of cultivated minds and refined habits. They were the pioneers of American civilization on the Pacific slope. And right well they did their whole duty—in our mountains and our valleys. The fruits of their genius, enterprise and industry is evidenced in every department of life. From deserts, our valleys were made to bloom as the rose and supply the world with their products. The busy home of industry resounded upon all sides; towns and cities were built as if by the touch of the Genii; manufactories sprang into life; the arts and sciences flourished; and the great work of civilization was perfected in California, the unknown world of a few years since. The farmer has returned to his plow; the mechanic to his bench; the lawyer to his briefs; the physician to his patients; and we now find each pursuing the occupation he is fitted for by nature and education; all classes enjoying peace and prosperity, living under the best Government ever organized by man; our mineral products giving life and activity to the world's great business interests; entering into every artery of trade and commerce, and stimulating men of all nations to venture into the arena and battle for prominence in commercial life.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

With unprecedented rapidity Bodie has assumed a prominence among mining towns but little inferior to that of Virginia City, and bids fair soon to rival even that famed locality on the Comstock. As population increases, the number of children of suitable age to attend school becomes larger, and, at this time, their numbers are so great that the present school accommodations are insufficient to contain them all. We are told that many are daily turned away from the doors, and are consequently unable to be instructed in the rudiments of an education of which they stand so much in need. The new Board of School Trustees, we are pleased to know, are using every effort to remedy this evil, and propose levying a tax for the purpose of adding to the limited accommodations offered to the school children. As we understand the law, the monies now in the treasury—some eighteen hundred dollars—can be used for no other purpose than the payment of salaries, and for books ordered and necessaries furnished to scholars. No part of the amount apportioned can be used for improvements in buildings or for the erection of new ones. This being the case, it becomes necessary for us to submit to a special tax for the purpose of enlarging or rebuilding the schoolhouse. We have interviewed numbers of parents and others, and, as yet, fail to find a man who is not willing to pay a reasonable amount toward this much needed matter. From the character of the gentlemen who occupy the position of Trustees, we are confident the money paid in would be economically expended, and that the school-house would be a credit to the community and a comfortable place for the young people to study in during the coming Winter months. Churches are well enough in their way—everybody should assist in building them, and attend public worship after they are erected,—but a school-house is the foundation of all good governments on earth, and is particularly needed in our own country. The people are to be congratulated on the eminently proper selection of a school teacher in the person of Mrs. Aubrey, the present talented incumbent, but her duties are too onerous just now to admit of more than the simplest sort of instruction. One teacher cannot possibly do justice to one hundred children in such a small den of a school-house as we now have, and, as to classification, such a thing is not among the possibilities. We should have a good, two-story building put up, sufficient to accommodate four hundred children, at least, and so arranged as to keep the boys and girls separated, with class-rooms and play-grounds sufficient for their proper instruction and amusement. It is to be hoped that the Trustees may see that this matter is pushed forward at once with energy and vigor, and not allowed to languish and linger until the season has become too far advanced to admit of anything being done. Good school facilities are among the most necessary of any matters looking toward good order, good government and good manners with the rising generation. In self-protection we owe it to humanity that we have our children well educated that they may become fitted to creditably take upon themselves the important trusts to be bequeathed to them by their parents and the community generally.

State Election in Kentucky—Our Troops Meet the Indians and are Repulsed With Loss—Republicans Meet in San Francisco in County Convention—Yellow Fever Still Continuing its Deadly March—Six Life Insurance Agents Join in a Murder—A Conflagration From Burning Oil, Etc.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

Republican County Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 5.—The Republican County Convention met at B'nia Brith Hall, Eddy street, to-day. A large crowd was in attendance. The Convention was called to order at a quarter past eleven, by P. B. Cornwall, Chairman of the County Central Committee. The call for the Convention was read, also the resolution of the County Central Committee, providing that no proxies be admitted. The Convention then proceeded to elect a temporary Chairman, and Colonel W. H. L. Barnes was chosen, viva voce. On taking the chair he addressed the Convention, briefly referring to the gravity of the questions at issue, etc. Major Hughes was then chosen Chairman of the Committee on Credentials. Committees on Permanent Organization and Platform were appointed, and the Convention then took a recess.

Yellow Fever at Various Points.

MEMPHIS, August 5.—Twenty new cases were reported to the Board of Health this morning. Three deaths have occurred since last night. Mrs. Howell and son, of 119 Washington street, New Orleans, are down with the yellow fever. They are improving, however.

In Havana the deaths last week from yellow fever number 138, an increase of 20 over the previous week.

The total number of deaths from yellow fever during July was 537, against 504 last year, the same month. Since the beginning of the year, 857 deaths have occurred, against 813 the same time last year.

Life Insurance Murderers.

LEBANON, Pa., August 5.—Charles Drews, Frank Atichler, George Richlan, Henry Wise, Josiah Hammel, and Israel Brandt, convicted in April last of the murder of Joseph Rober, were brought into Court yesterday. Judge Henderson granted a new trial to Richlan, but denied the application of the others, and they were remanded for sentence. Rober was killed by these five men, who had insured his life.

Seward's Defalcation.

NEW YORK, August 5.—The Sun's Washington special says: Seward, Minister to China, will probably resign as soon as the Judiciary Committee of the House can report. Bailey, Consul-General at Shanghai, will be the next to fall. Evidence has been procured, showing that while Consul at Hong Kong, he appropriated $30,000 of Government funds received as emigration fees.

Canal Through the Isthmus of Darien.

NEW YORK, August 4.—A Florida official says: The Legislature will certainly be called together within the next sixty days to consider the subject of a charter for the canal by the way of Aspinwall. He says the charter will be granted at once, and guarantees that in case this is done, the canal will be completed within the next three years.

An Actor Dead.

QUAKERTOWN, Pa., August 5.—Charles Fechter, the actor, is dead.

Captain Eads' Ship Canal.

NEW YORK, August 5.—The World's Washington correspondent says: A very curious circumstance, and one throwing a good deal of light on the intentions of the French capitalists and engineers interested in shortening the route to the Pacific, occurred just before Captain Eads left New York. A gentleman, named Keiffer, from Paris, came to him with a prospectus of a French plan for a ship railroad across the Isthmus. It was one of the plans of an engineer, named Sebillott, and Keiffer said that those who were pecuniarily interested in the project had a grant from the Colombian government identical with the Wyse grant, except that this called for a ship railway and his for a ship canal. It is evident that the stock-jobbers do not intend to be done out of their grant by any such trifling matter as a change of plan from a canal to a railway. This revelation is looked upon here as simply cumulative evidence as to the character of the movement in aid of De Lesseps' plan, which was before sufficiently established.

A Destructive Conflagration.

WHEELING (Pa.), August 5. — The town of Volcano was destroyed by fire yesterday. Everything was a total loss. The fire originated in the store and building of Thompson & Barnes. It was discovered about 4 o'clock A. M. The flames spread rapidly, and, reaching some oil tanks, they caught fire and burst. The burning oil, running through the streets, set fire to everything on both sides of the course through which it passed, transforming the streets into a lake of fire. The loss is reported at $75,000; insurance, $43,000. There were six hundred barrels of heavy oil burned; ten stores; the postoffice; railroad depot; telegraph office; one hotel; the Walking Beam printing office; nine dwelling-houses; the West Virginia Transportation office; Smith's boiler works; one pumping station, and several other small buildings. There is little doubt but the fire was the work of an incendiary.

The Kentucky State Election.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August 5.—A special, received by the Courier-Journal, indicated a large falling off in the Democratic vote cast at yesterday's election for State offices and members of the Legislature. The Democratic Central Committee estimate the total vote at not over 200,000, a falling off of over 50,000 on the Tilden and Hayes vote, and over 150,000 on the last Gubernatorial vote. In this city alone, the vote falls off over 300. The Republicans make slight gains in the Legislature, and defeat the Speaker of the last House, but the Democratic majority is still overwhelming in the General Assembly. The call for a Constitutional Convention fails for the want of a Constitutional majority in its favor. In this city, where the Workingmen elected 5 of the 7 representatives two years ago, only Democrats were elected yesterday. The Greenbackers cut no figure in the contest.

NEW YORK, August 5.—The World's Louisville special says: Returns from yesterday's election are meager, but indicate a falling off in the Democratic vote. Blackburn's majority will probably fall short of McCreary's, four years ago, which was 36,000, by from 1,000 to 1,500. There was great apathy among the Democrats all over the State. The Republicans gain a few members of the Legislature, but the Democrats still have about two to one. It is doubtful if a majority of the 351,000 voters of the State voted at all. The returns show the following result: Blackburn (Dem.), for Governor, 1,736; Evans (Rep.), 1,555; and Cook (National), 20. The remainder of the ticket received about the same vote, except that for Treasurer, which was: Stall (Rep.), 1,825; Tate (Dem.), 1,497; In the local contest for Representative, Bush (Dem.), received 1,730; Kastle (National), supported by the Republicans, received 1,285. Woodford county gives a Democratic majority of 2,503.

Commencement of the Indian War.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, August 5.—Colonel Robbins, chief of scouts, and Johnny Vose, another scout, arrived here to-day from Colonel Bernard's camp, on Lake Creek, near Big Payette Lake, 150 miles from this place, having left Bernard yesterday morning. Bernard sends the following message to Major Collins in command of the post here: "I have just received a dispatch from Catley stating that the Indians attacked and defeated his command on the 28th of July. His loss is not severe, only two wounded. He lost all his provisions and the greater part of his baggage and twenty-three pack mules. The force of Indians is not large, though well posted at the mouth of Big Creek, a stream that flows from the West to East, emptying into the Middle Fork of the Salmon, about 30 miles below the mouth of Loon Creek. Send to me every man of my company fit for duty, to come with Robbins. I will get Farron and go down the South Salmon to a point where I ordered Catley to meet me, when we will cross over to the Indians' position. Provisions should be sent to us by the way of Deadman's Canyon and Oro Grande to the mouth of Loon Creek. Will remain here until Robbins returns. (Signed) BERNARD."

Robbins met Farron and his Umatilla Indian scouts at the Payette Falls, thirty-five miles this side of Bernard's camp. He will join Bernard immediately. Bernard was misled, while on the scout on the South Fork, by messengers from Farrow saying that he had struck the Indians on Crooked River, which proved false, and through it he turned this way, instead of going north. His judgment told him where the Indians were, and, had he kept in that direction, he would have struck the hostiles about the time Catley did. Bernard is now about one hundred and fifty miles from the hostiles, but will have to wait several days for supplies before he takes up his march.

Proven Not Guilty.

BELMONT, Nev., August 5.—The case of the State of Nevada vs. Oliver Bates, indicted for cattle-stealing, was decided in the Fifth Judicial District Court yesterday, by a verdict of not guilty. The case was one of unusual interest, having been prosecuted for a long time, causing considerable feeling in the community.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On Friday night, about 10 o'clock, as the fast freight was coming in between Aurora and Bodie, Albert Jackson, a 10-year old son of the pioneer Jackson, of Bodie, who was sitting on one of the bows of the wagon, fell asleep and rolled to the ground, in the deep dust. In an instant the team was stopped and the boy, still dreaming, was picked up, saying: "If I am hurt, Henry, it is your fault." Henry is the brother he sleeps with at home. The boy was not injured.

IMPROVEMENTS.—At Gillson, Barber & Co.'s store they are constantly making improvements of some kind. Going in there yesterday we saw a well-arranged glass case rack which had been made to take the place of the old tables formerly occupying the center of the room. Frank Hessel, the junior member of the firm, is indefatigable in his efforts to make of his store a first-class institution. He is an active business man, and the effects of his attention to business is every day becoming more apparent in the appearance of the store.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

The New York Mining Exchange, and Its Increased Importance—Bodie Stocks and Their Values as Securities—William M. Lent's Opinion of Gamblers Generally—A Railroad to be Built Bodiewards—Places to Call in New York—Etc.

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE BODIE NEWS.]

NEW YORK, July 28, 1879.

EDITOR NEWS: It is hot in New York, and hence most of the great operators are out of town. There is every evidence that early in the fall there will be a number of properties put upon the New York market—and among them, several good ones from the Bodie region. Our Mining Exchange here has become quite an institution. It has 480 members, and the seats, which last December were easy to purchase at $150, now command over $900. The new members (and there are a great many changes) are all men of wealth and character. All the prominent brokers are making connections with the Mining Exchange, which, it is believed, will be a very important institution before the close of the year 1880. Bodie stocks are dealt in quite extensively here—Standard, Tioga, Bechtel, Consolidated Pacific, Belvidere, McClinton, Bodie, Defiance, Dudley, Jupiter, Mono, and many others are dealt in every day; and the number of orders is increasing. A good deal of Bodie has been bought and sold lately, but the puzzling fluctuations in the stock make operators timid. If more of Bodie was held in New York, the variations in price would not be so marked.

There is one statement in a speech made by Wm. M. Lent, at the Lotus Club dinner, that has not attracted the attention it deserves. He said, that it was the extra-hazardous risks which gave men fortunes. He appealed to an insurance officer who was present for a confirmation of his theory, that in insurance it was the big risks that were most profitable; that it is the conservative broker and business man who makes the least money, and who oftenest fails; that in stock operations and mining ventures, courage is as essential as in war. The timid, hesitating, prudent operator goes by the board, while the apparently reckless manipulator comes out ahead.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, who was present that evening, made a very eloquent speech. He was understood to be a large investor in Bodie Consolidated.

It is rumored here that you are soon to have a railroad from a point near Virginia City to Bodie, and that it will eventually be pushed on to the Lake region. When the Noonday mill is built, the addition made to the Bodie, and the Standard-Bulwer mill is finished, there will be so large a business at Bodie, that it will pay D. O. Mills to give your region this needed improvement.

A good many Bodie people find their way to New York now. They will always be welcome at the office of Dickinson Brothers, No. 43, Exchange Place, and also at the new firm of Minor & Harper, in the same building. Wm. M. Lent and Col. Shaffer are also to be found at No. 19 South William street, around the corner. Mr. Lent lives in Poughkeepsie, residing temporarily in the house of Mr. Hinckley, but is down every day to attend to business.

There is now a large telegraphic business done between Bodie and this city, and the tolls to your local Company must foot up quite handsome.

VIDETTE.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORTS.

Below we give reports from other of the mines which we failed to obtain for our regular mining summary:

Bechtel.

Drifting south on the ledge at the 300 and 400-foot levels. From actual experience had at the mine, and from personal observation and examination made by our reporter, the fact is patent that no really productive work can be expected in this mine until such time as a new working shaft is commenced, by means of which the water now existing in the lower levels can be handled. The present appliances for handling this enemy to successful working are entirely inadequate for the purpose, and the Bechtel must remain undeveloped in its lower levels, except important alterations are made in the arrangements for handling the water.

Bodie Tunnel.

Now in 1,090 feet, and the formation in the face of the tunnel looks very well and showing indications of the near approach to another ledge. The vein at the 900-foot station is being opened by a south drift, and continual improvement is noticeable as progress is made. Owing to the want of sufficient pure air it is impossible to prospect the ledge at the 1,055-foot station, but when a stream of water is struck in the face of the tunnel, which is likely to occur any day, the air will be purified and men enabled to work at any point in the tunnel.

South Standard.

Drifting from 400-foot level now on two ledges. In on east ledge 120 feet from shaft, which continues in about the same character of ground. North drift from main shaft has been run in a distance of 80 feet. At 25 feet a crosscut was started for the ledge which was cut, showing a width of 2½ feet. Have started a drift north to ascertain the value of the ledge. Water accumulating in the main shaft prevents further sinking.

Richer.

Crosscutting on 200-foot level with very favorable indications of soon reaching the ledge. Will soon resume sinking the shaft to another level, then crosscut again toward the vein. Under the management of A. M. Ellsworth, lately appointed Superintendent of this property, renewed activity will be the order of the day, and, without doubt, this really valuable ground will soon be made to assume its proper place among the good-paying properties of the lode.

Goodshaw.

Shaft down now 480 feet, having made 20 feet the week past; formation looks very favorable in bottom of shaft. Sinking the winze on No. 1 vein, and are now down 45 feet and looking remarkably well. Made 25 feet in the east drift during the past week. Everything working well in and about the mine.

Ajax.

Will soon resume work on the mine, and push development forward with energy and persistance.

REGISTRATION MATTERS.

Opinion of Hon. Jo. Hamilton, Attorney-General of the State—Voters Must be on the Great Register, to Entitle Them to Vote—Are We to be Disfranchised?

In yesterday's issue we expressed our doubts as to whether County Clerk Jeffreys was correct in his idea regarding registration, and promised at that time to take legal advice on the subject. The Chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, B. H. Miller, telegraphed to Attorney-General Jo. Hamilton the following dispatch:

"Jo. Hamilton, Sacramento:—Can voters vote on certificates of registration, without being on printed Great Register. Answer.

B. H. MILLER,
C. D. C. C. C."

In answer to the above the following was received late last evening:

"B. H. Miller:—No.
(Signed) JO. HAMILTON,
Attorney General."

In further proof of our position that legal voters must be on the Great Register, we publish the following opinion from Hon. Thos. P. Ryan, a gentleman well qualified for the work:

BODIE, August 5, 1879.

EDITOR NEWS: In reply to yours of this date, in reference to the matter of registration of voters, and their competency to vote upon certificates, I have to say that the registration law as it originally stood, was amended by Act, approved March 30, 1878. Said last mentioned Act requires that there shall be kept in the office of the County Clerk of each county a Great Register. Section 1,227 requires that the name must be found in the Register in use at the precinct, and Section 1 113 of said Act requires that beyond the 5th day of August in each year, in which there shall be a general or Presidential election, each County Clerk must make a copy of the uncanceled entries existing on the Great Register on the first day of August preceding. Said act then immediately goes on to provide for the preparation and distribution of township and precinct Registers for each township, etc. The language of the act would clearly seem to indicate that in order to vote registration is necessary, and I am therefore of the opinion that it must be done in order to qualify voters.

Respectfully, T. P. RYAN.

To our knowledge no effort has been made to have this work done previous to the 5th day of August (which date fell on yesterday), or if such has been attempted the copy was sent out of the county. As there are three printing establishments in Bodie, all prepared to do the work, we incline to the belief that the Board of Supervisors would have allowed one or the other of them to do the same, and not have sent it to San Francisco or Sacramento. At any rate we hope that some 800 voters—the probable number who have registered since the last Great Register was printed—are not disfranchised in the coming election. General Jo. Hamilton's opinion is certainly one which we are inclined to accept in preference to any other, and of course the names of all voters must appear on the printed Great Register to entitle them to vote.

History of the Donner Party.

We find on our table a neatly bound volume of nearly two hundred pages, filled with the terrible accounts of the sufferings, disease and death which marked the history of the ill-fated Donner party, from whose presence the celebrated lake far up in the Sierras derives its name. The pages are replete with incidents of perils, and the reader is irresistably carried along by the thrilling tales therein contained. The author and compiler is C. F. McGlashan, one of the proprietors of the Truckee Republican, who has devoted many hours of study and research to the publication. The book is now being sold by an agent in Bodie, and is well worth the price asked for it. We predict for the work a large sale here.

A FINE COMPILATION.—Mrs. Mary Healey, who is engaged selling books in this town, left on our table a magnificently-bound copy of the "Library of Poetry and Song." The work is a compilation of bon mots of some of our own and English authors, and is really a valuable book. We think that every person of taste in reading matter will purchase a volume when shown one.

A PRIVATE SCHOOL.—In view of the fact that our public school house is so over crowded with children, we hear it stated that a private school will be commenced here in order to accommodate the large number of little ones who are unable to attend to their studies. We hope the new enterprise will be successful.

WINDY.—Yesterday was a windy, disagreeable day, and caused everybody who could to remain in-doors, out of the way of the dust and dirt. But the weather thus far this season has been first-class for a country such as this, and it is far ahead of the windy gales of San Francisco and vicinity in point of comfort.

BETTER.—Our old friend, John Wagner, who has been ailing some days is, we are glad to say, again around attending to his immense business. We are glad to see John's genial face again illume the scene of his labors, and hope it may be many years before he again succumbs to the enemy of good health.

Sam Platt, the live clothing dealer of Bodie, and one of the firm of Koppel & Platt, is making extensive arrangements for the reception of the largest and best selected stock of clothing, furnishing goods, etc., ever brought to Bodie, of the latest styles and finest quality. Failing to find any house large enough for the purpose this firm are compelled to sell the stock now on hand, consisting of as fine an assortment of clothing and furnishing goods as can be found in the State, at cost, in order to make room, and those desiring bargains should avail themselves of this opportunity, as their fine stock now on hand must be disposed of. The alarmingly low prices at which the goods are marked down cause other clothing merchants to tremble, and though death to traders it is a harvest to the buyers. The reputation of this firm for square dealing is too well known to require commendation, and this clearing out sale is no Peter Funk, as is usually the case, but means business. If you want bargains call and try them.

MORNING NEWS.

WEDNESDAY, - - AUGUST 6, 1879.

SUMMER.

[London Society.]

There came a whisper through the wind blown leaves,
That stirred in music underneath the eaves,
And fluttering breeze and fluttering foliage seemed
To waft my thoughts to dreamland as I dreamed
Of Summer.

There came a flood of light, a flush of bloom,
And roses scattered petals of perfume;
And wings of birds and echoes of their song
Bore every thought in cadence sweet along
To Summer.

There flamed in splendor fierce a fervent sun,
And sweet May paled, and sighed, "My life is done;
To you, O sister June, be all I lose
And all I fain would gain, if I might choose
For Summer!"

There stood in meadow grasses ankle-deep
One who awakened from her maiden sleep,
And waking, turned to me with smile divine,
And blushing, let her hand clasp close on mine
In Summer.

And all the golden sunlight rained its gold
On tresses bright as any ray they hold,
And all the fervent splendor of the day
Wore fairer splendor then in sky and ray
Of Summer.

For what is earth if love be not our day?
And what is love if love care not to stay,
And staying, steal our hearts in dreamless rest?
And resting thus, who dreams and is not blest
In Summer?
